

Chamber Music at Charterhouse

Chamber music has always been an important part of the Charterhouse musical scene, and many Carthusians pursue it later on in life, as amateurs or professionals. Over the last few years many Charterhouse ensembles have taken part in the National Chamber Music Competition for Schools, and a good number (including all the groups on this disc) have reached the final concert, which is the platform for the winners of the competition. This CD comprises recordings of some great chamber works, and represents some recent highlights of Carthusian chamber music-making.
